Pertinent Topics Discussed by H.C.

We know a going concern, heavy in red and going deeper. The latest estimate is that its deficit will be a million dollars a week, and yet it advertised for a loan of fifty million dollars, and got the money too, at a very low rate of interest. How? Well, because your name and ours were placed on the back of the note as endorser, by the government of Canada, without asking our consent. There is nothing we can do about it, but once in a while it would be nice if the government would sign us up as endorsers of some project that gives promise of paying its way. We cannot hope for dividends because, if dividends were probable, the government would not affix our endorsing signatures to the bond issue.

Did you hear that one of the western doctor who sent out an account with a note saying: "If you don't pay this bill, I shall tell all your other creditors that you did?"

Of all kill-joys the worst are those Berlin correspondents who are still denying that Goebbels was horse-whipped. Nevertheless we still extract some pleasure out of disbelieving them.

It's so silly for people to be mad because the King and Queen are not going to call on the quints. On behalf of the five sisters, we wish to announce that the protest did not come from them. They would like to meet their Majesties, but realize that the itinerary would not permit of it. They have more sense than many older folk.

Contrasting Mussolini to Hitler, all to the disadvantage of the latter, a writer says that Mussolini is intelligent and well educated (he ought to be because he was once an editor) and speaks several languages, while Hitler is unintelligent, has a one-track mind and never engaged in controversy in his life. He would not speak at all if anyone else had the right to speak against him. We have met fellows of that description. Knowing their intellectual limitations, they keep on talking louder and longer than their adversaries, an admission that they were dubious of their power to answer their opponents' arguments.

If Mussolini had not been able to speak German, we would probably be in the midst of war now. Chamberlain was speaking in the Commons telling the British people he had done his best to prevent war, but, now that it was imminent, the frightful thing had to be faced. It was then that Mussolini called up Hitler by phone. We do not know just what was said but before his speech was over, Chamberlain was handed a message saying that Hitler was prepared to meet him again at Munich. Once war starts it is awfully hard to stop. That telephone conversation stopped it before it started. A frightened man in Italy who could speak German, frightened another man in Berchtesgaden.

We thought at the time it was a mistake when Chamberlain departed from custom to compliment Roosevelt upon his address to Congress. It could

Calgary Power Co. Reduces Electric Light Service Charge

Commencing this month, the electric light service charge has been 50 cts. and this has been reduced to 40 cts., but the largest saving will be made by business men with establishments where commercial rates apply. The service charge on this class of service has been 50 cts. for the first 500 watts of installed capacity and 20 cts. for each additional 250 watts of installed capacity. Under the new schedule the service charge is reduced to 40 cts. for the first 500 watts and 10 cts. for each additional 250 watts, which will effect a sizeable reduction in the monthly light bills of large users of electricity at commercial rates.

These reductions will give Vulcan residents electric lighting at the same rate as at Claresholm, a much larger town. The Calgary Power Company can well be commended for effecting these reductions in service charges, as under its franchise with the Town of Vulcan, the initial service charge may not be more than 50 cents but does not have to be below that sum.

The Calgary Power Co. will replace one-third of the street lights in town with larger lamps, it has been learned.

The brighter lights will probably be distributed around the business section, giving this part of the town much better illumination at night.

Mrs. Lizzie Witting, Lomond Pioneer, Dies

Following a lengthy illness, Lizzie Witting, wife of G. W. Witting, died on Jan. 18th. She was 76 years of age.

Surviving are her husband, G. W. Witting; three sons, Harry at Vulcan, Roy at Lomond and Elmer, Cutbank, Mont.; and one daughter, Mrs. H. B. Ulrich, Vulcan.

On Monday evening the new committee met to make plans for the year's work. An earnest effort will be made to cut down the hall's indebtedness, and to supplement the cash on hand it was decided to hold a series of entertainments and dances. The first a social evening, to be held on February 3rd, commencing at 8 o'clock, will be a concert put on by the local children, followed by a pie social and dance. Each lady will be required to bring a pie, which will be auctioned, the proceeds to go to the hall fund. On February 10th an old-time dance, with Pappy Watt's orchestra, will be held.

The need for a ceiling for the hall has long been felt, to conserve heat and to improve the sound of the dance music. To this end one of the first steps of the new committee will be the undertaking of this work.

Weep to the tale of Willie T8 Who met a girl whose name was K8. He courted her at a fearful R8, And begged her soon to become his M8 "I would if I could," said lovely K8, "I pity your lonely, unhappy M8. But alas, you've come too L8. "I'm married already. The mother of 8."

INDEPENDENT CIVIL SERVICE

ONE of the resolutions of the U.F.A., which would be endorsed by all responsible citizens, related to the Civil Service. It was advocated that the government be urged to recognize the need of a new Civil Service Act, which will provide for entrance to the service through examination or through merit; it was further recommended that an independent civil service commission be set up and thus provide a measure of security to the members of the service. A definite schedule of salaries was suggested.

Although the members of legislature are periodically and dramatically before the public, it is the army of civil servants that keeps the machinery of the country going. It is on their efficiency that the taxpayer must depend for efficient administration of the provincial statutes and requirements. The strength of a civil service body, depends on initial fitness for office and assurance of continuity, so long as duties are discharged faithfully. Appointment through political preference undermines the morale, and is utterly wrong in principle. It would be destructive to any business, if employees felt that their period of service might be terminated at any time through the employer's whims, and that years of faithful work, could bring no definite security. The general public, regardless of political allegiance, is violently opposed to the principle of political patronage. Most people see gross injustice in the fact that a party elected temporarily to power, has the authority to dismiss those who should be permanent employees. The taxpayer has the right to an efficient service as he can secure, and for his sake, as well as for the sake of the civil servants, all civil service appointments should be completely removed from the authority of the changing legislative administrations.

One of the most creditable achievements of the old U.F.A. government was along the line of reform in the civil service. The government took the stand that appointments should be on merit and not on the ground of politics, and this policy was followed scrupulously, with noticeably good results in the various departments. This excellent beginning was not followed up by the present government, and in the last three years there have been more unexplained dismissals, and unexplained replacements, than at any previous time in the history of the province.

It is deplorable to see any good structure undermined, and the Civil Service is the foundation of governmental structure. The U.F.A. may no longer be a political party, but is still a strong political force. Neither individual members or groups are going to support any provincial party which does not include reform in civil service control as one of its important planks.

CANDOR AND TRUTH

A writer in the Lethbridge Herald advances a homely bit of advice, in these words: "If more people would attack in the open there would be less misunderstanding. So many friendships are broken because of interference from others than the parties directly concerned. If you have a grievance go directly to the one whom it concerns rather than talk it over with others. It is wonderful how easily things can be cleared up if they are not left simmering under the cover of anger. There is much to be said for the advice of never letting the sun go down on your wrath, but add to that 'never discuss your quarrels with those who are not directly concerned.'"

Isn't it the truth? Everyone knows within his own experience of cleavages which have come about through listening to other people, instead of going straight to the source. Two people, dealing directly, can almost always reach some understanding of each other's view. But let any alteration or any misunderstanding get into the avid hands of the interested outsider, and it becomes distorted out of all recognition. It is the gossips—those who like to make trouble, and those who are unconsciously inaccurate—who make most of the unhappiness in any community. Their talk is like the crackling of thorns. It is unhampered by any regard for truth or for harm which may be wrought. And it is very rarely that the trouble maker is called to account.

Stories leap into being without the vestige of truth and go whispering round the neighborhood. Other stories can grow out of some simple, easily explained incident, until they are a horrible distortion and exaggeration.

Most people living in small communities, have adopted a defeatist attitude toward gossip. They find it hopeless to track down through the spreaders to the original "starter," so they take refuge in the philosophy that the stories will die down soon, to make way for new victims. But this acceptance of the inevitability of gossip is sad. There is no more excuse for people to be dishonest in their words, than in their actions. The man who steals a piece of personal property is scarcely as evil-minded as the person who tries to steal another's character. And the wrong done from the standpoint of society, is rarely so great. Yet almost invariably the common thief is dealt with severely, and the malicious gossip escapes free to continue his preying on the public.

The tongue, even at its best, is an unruly member, making trouble, sometimes intentionally, sometimes unintentionally, but forever making trouble.

Society Notes

A delightful pink whiskey was given on Wednesday evening at the hostelry of Hon. John Mosely, the eminent Conservative leader. The evening was spent in games of progressive black jack, the prizes being most charming and colorful cigars. An elegant time was had.

The Chaucer Club will meet Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Stockwell P. Lundy when the Story of the Three Clerks will be discussed. A paper on Rabelais will be read by Miss Rose Sedlitz, one of last season's charming buds.

The musicale given by Mrs. Beatrice Platt on Thursday at her charming residence passed off with great eclat. Dr. Pirie sang "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree" with fine effect, while Mr. Howell rendered the Arkansaw Traveller on the violin with verve and dexterity. Tea was poured by the inoffensive Miss Platt herself who later on led a discussion on the relative merits of Chopin and Frank Oliver.

A pretty wedding took place last night at the home of the bride's parents, the contracting parties being Peter J. McGonigle and Miss Iphigenia R. Johnson. The bride looked sweet and modest in white chantilly lace and open work stockings. The groom was attired in an elegant jag, creating roars of laughter at the dejeuner by his espieglerie and abandon. The happy couple left for Banff to spend their honeymoon and the bridegroom's wad.

Farm Yields

Harold Banister of Davisburg, threshed a field of oats that yielded 82 bushels to the acre at 42 pounds a bushel. A. E. Banister threshed spring wheat running 46½ bushels. No hard. These figures may convince land seekers that grain can be grown round Calgary without irrigation. A man from California looking for a farm, has been scared off by these big irrigation signs round Calgary. He should have another look.

High River Eye Opener Sept. 1905. Sergeant Hobbs was down at Cayley Wednesday inspecting cattle being shipped to the Klondyke.

Miss Aggie Baird came up from Nanton to visit Mrs. Jimmie Johnston. A number of well-to-do Americans who visited High River in search of land a week ago, after exploring the country between here and Edmonton, have come back to cast in their lot with the Garden of Eden which is known the world over as the High River district.

Fifty homesteads were taken up at the High River land offices in August. Mrs. James Leighton arrived unexpectedly from Dakota on Monday morning's train. Her husband at once lit out and is now lurking in the foothills. His mail and grub are being packed in by an Indian. Mrs. Leighton is a grim-looking piece of goods.

The first stone of the new school-house will be laid by Miss Lily Robertson.

Close on half-a-hundred friends of Sergeant Jeb Brown of the R.N.W.M.P. assembled at a banquet in his honor at Kellock's restaurant. Mrs. Kellock turned herself loose in preparing a magnificent layout. As soon as the game, salads and kickshaws had been disposed off, the company launched into music with Mr. Stansfield presiding at the piano and leading off with noble song "Goodbye John, don't stay long."

June 1902—The spring round up meets on the 8th at the mouth of Mosquito Creek and will start work from Rattlesnake Bottom eight miles below the C.C. fence on the Big Bow. They will work as far south as Lethbridge, back toward Macleod and up to High River and Sheep Creek. From Lethbridge to Claresholm George Winder will be captain from there to Mosquito Creek, Charles Anderson, C.C. foreman; from there to Sheep Creek, Herb Miller, the Bar U foreman. If good weather holds the boys should hit Mosquito Creek again about Dominion day.

With the advent of the automobile, the neighboring city of Calgary advances another stride, in all that is good, fashionable, immoral, gay and joyous. By way of further justification for the auto's introduction it should be mentioned that the city has two hospitals, a gang of skilled surgeons the coroner and a most attractive graveyard. Also a police magistrate, and a civic council which is now clothed with the honor of passing by-laws on the auto's speed, and incidentally fixing fines.

Good Cash Balance

Audit of Foothills Unit Not Yet Completed But Trustees Favorably Impressed With Balances Shown

Trustees of the Foothills school division met on Jan. 20, to continue the business of setting up the unit. The audit of the large division is as yet incomplete, owing to the fact that three of the districts have not turned in their books. But trustees were favorably impressed with the cash balances shown. These cash balances will be used temporarily by the division, but ultimately for the district from which they came. Where it is necessary some of the funds may be used this year for the contributing district. There are several schools in serious need of repairs, and in some instances trustees have been putting by money for this purpose. Such cases will be taken care of.

The trustees decided to accept Lloyds blanket insurance policy to cover the 75 schools in the division, and a considerable saving will be effected thereby. The policy is written to take care of the varying periods of expiration. It was also decided to take a personal liability insurance through Chairman Emanuel Randle presented his report on the recent convention of trustees of enlarged units. He commented in particular on the saving which is possible through the quantity purchase of school supplies.

Mention was made of the tentative undertaking of the province to assist in the upkeep of schools in the drier areas to the eastern part of the division. The financial position of some of these schools, has been an obstacle in the acceptance of the big division, and the suggestion that the government may assume part of the burden, will be more favorable news. A budget was discussed but owing to the lack of the auditor's report it was impossible to make complete plans.

Pertinent Topics Discussed by H.C.

only embarrass the President in his relations with many of his party friends and alienate anti-Rooseveltians from Britain. The only reason we have seen advanced is that Chamberlain was suspected in the United States of being more or less of a Nazi-Fascist himself and therefore it was wise to associate himself with Roosevelt as a defender of democracy against dictatorship.

Mr. Nesbitt told your Rotary Club that tariffs cost the west fifty millions a year and that sound money cost the west thirty-five millions. Having no direct interest in tariffs or sound money, in the way of benefiting by the losses they occasion to the west, we were and are interested in those figures. How does he arrive at them? Are they net or gross? We are directly affected by the tariff merely as a consumer and have often felt that the revenue raised by it was spent impropiously. Only a short time ago we called attention to the proposal to complete the Montreal terminals of the C.N.R., but it was a voice crying in the wilderness. We do not object to the cost of bridging the difference between the market price of wheat and the fixed price but it is maddening to think that no one else seems to get mad at the proposal to complete those unnecessary and costly terminals. It almost tempts us to toy with the idea of giving up smoking and drinking which we indulge patriotically because our country needs the money.

If sound money costs the west thirty-five millions, think what it costs

IN MEMORIAM

In affectionate remembrance of my husband, William Watt, who passed away December 29th, 1938:

"A light is from our household gone,

Introducing the Chukar Partridge

This is a direct appeal to all bird lovers and sportsmen to take an active part in assisting the Vulcan Fish and Game Ass'n and the Propagation Committee, Foreign Game Birds, Calgary, to place Chukar Partridge in the Vulcan district.

The Chukar is a native of India, lives from sea level to ten thousand feet, will stand our winters, likes open country, lies well to a dog, a fast flier, is prolific and is about the size of our Willow Grouse. The results attained is prolific and is about the size of our and the spring of 1938 have convinced the sponsors that they will thrive in these parts. The Vulcan Fish and Game Ass'n has placed an order for two crates, consisting of five cocks and ten hens to a crate, at a cost of two hundred and five dollars. The Calgary Fish and Game Ass'n will pay half of this amount, the balance is payable by the Vulcan Ass'n.

Your local committee is working hard to raise the balance and earnestly solicit your support. A donation will make you a member of the Vulcan Fish and Game Ass'n. We need game birds on our prairies. We are also promised new blood birds for our Hungarians this fall. Help this good work along and see H. L. Greene or G. C. Collier about your donation.

D. C. Campbell Gov't Publicity Head

Former Editor of Texaco News, Accepts Post For Which He Has Experience And Training

Local readers will be interested in the recent appointment of D. G. Campbell, former news editor of CFCN, to the new post of publicity director for the province of Alberta.

Hon. E. C. Manning, acting premier at the time of appointment has issued a statement as follows:

The appointments of D.E.C. Campbell as director of publicity and the Mackay & Savary Advertising Service as advertising agents for the Government of the Province of Alberta have been authorized and the work of reorganizing the Government's publicity activities along new lines is being commenced.

In making these appointments, the Government has taken into consideration the fact that experienced news and publicity men should be employed in order to give newspapers, news agencies and radio stations the greatest possible assistance in obtaining accurate, authentic information about the Government's activities and plans.

Mr. Campbell has a background of valuable news experience, having been actively connected with news work for more than 18 years. He was city editor on the Calgary Herald and night editor on the Albertan prior to his editing of Texaco News.

The Government has appointed the Mackay & Savary Advertising Service of Calgary, as advertising agents for the Government, with authority to supervise the organizing of the publicity bureau so that its work will most effectively dovetail with any advertising that the Government may contemplate in the future. The agency will be retained in an advisory capacity to consult on matters of advertising or publicity policy. This bureau is not expected by the Government to function in the capacity of a propaganda bureau in the accepted sense of that word, and its main purpose will be to assist editors, reporters and news agency representatives in obtaining the actual facts in connection with any news stories developing as a result of the Government's activities or plans.

The Government sincerely hopes that Boards of Trade, Chambers of Commerce, Exhibition and Fair Boards, industrial and commercial organizations and every section of the general public will feel free to call upon this publicity bureau for information that may be used in better publicizing their activities and making their publicity work and that of the Government's bureau most effective through an active co-operation that will build up a public consciousness of the importance of our natural resources, industries and commercial enterprises.
